Trip Introduction

The Halesi Mahadev Tour Maratika Caves are located next to the village of Mahadevasthan, in the Khotang District of eastern Nepal, 3,100 ft. – 4,734 ft. above sea level. The cave and temple are about 185 km south west of Mount Everest. It is trusted that inside the temple, the Halesi Mahadev Tour has been utilized as a home for a long time.

Ruler Shiva concealed there when escaping the devil Bhasmasur. The area of this cavern is between the blessed waterways of Dudh Koshi and Sun Kosi. Amid Shivaratri, Rama Navami and Ganesh Chaturthi fairs and merriments are held in the locale. It is around 222 kilometers away from Kathmandu following the way of Dhulikhel, Nepalthok, Khurkot all the way to Ghurmi, Okhaldhunga, Jayaram and Halesi. As we travel through the narrow road so it take around 8 – 9 hours to reach Halesi Mahadev. Halesi Mahadev is two feet tall Shiva Linga that enshrines inside the Cave. There are two pillars close to each other on the north of the Shiva Linga making a narrow pass. It is believed that sinners cannot pass through this passage, but confessions of the wrongs committed would enable access through. Thousands of devotees come to offer worship the symbol of Lord Shiva with the belief that Halesi Mahadev blesses the poor with prosperity and the ignorant with knowledge and wisdom.

Maratika cavern is 67 feet underneath the outside of the land, and is both an adored religious spot and a most loved visitor goal. Its passage is formed as a half moon and faces towards the east. It has a round shape, with a distance across of 193 feet, with a different cavern lying underneath. The floor is 223 feet in circuit. For more information please CONTACT US.
