

Rock Climbing

- Trip Overview
- Itinerary
- Dates & Cost
- What's Included
- Trip Info
- Review

-

Trip Introduction

Rock Climbing in Nepal

Rock climbing is a movement where you will scale or crosswise over normal shake developments or man-made shake dividers with the objective of achieving the summit of an arrangement or the endpoint of a pre-characterized course.

Rock climbing action is commonly separated by its requirement for the utilization of the climber's hands to hold his or her own load so as to make balance. Climbing rock is a physically and rationally requesting game, one that frequently tests a climber's quality, continuance, spryness, and offset alongside his or her psychological control.

It very well may be a hazardous game and information of appropriate climbing procedures and use of specific climbing gear is pivotal for the sheltered culmination of courses.

We give you site instructions, travel plan, lunch, climbing riggings and field guides. Go along with us !

Nagarjun Forest Reserve

The climbing site has wide scope of courses and is best spot for learners, moderate and expert climbers. Nagarjun is found 3 Km North West of Kathmandu Valley. The drive time to achieve the Nagarjung Forest Reserve is a little ways from Thamel. To achieve the climbing spot, we should climb a short ways from the passageway door. Nagarjun Forest Reserve is watched by armed force. Look at time is 5 O' Clock. We can orchestrate shake ascending project with off-road bicycle cycling. For more info, CONTACT US