Trip Introduction

Mount Everest Mountain Flight, Stunningness stricken quietness is the most ideal approach to portray going on a mountain trip to experience the top mountains of this world. No big surprise mountain fly-by has turned into a prominent vacation spot in Nepal. Four aircrafts offer ordinary flights into the snowy-capped peaks of the Himalayan mountains. Mountain flights request to all class of voyagers. For the individuals who are confined by time or different contemplations from going trekking, these flights offer an all encompassing perspective and a very close feel of the Himalaya.

The flight usually lasts between 50 minutes up to an hour. The planes take off either from TIA, Kathmandu. During the flight, you will catch a glimpse of 20 of the highest peaks to the East of Nepal starting from the Langtang Lirung peak which is the closest peak to Kathmandu, then move towards Mt. Everest in the East and finally fly to Chamlang peak. From there, the plane takes a turn and the passengers get a second look at the view while they make their way back to Kathmandu.

The mountain flight not only allows you to enjoy fantastic views but also helps you to understand the geography of Nepal. Although mountain flights do not have a long history, it has gained popularity among tourists for the beauty that it promises. Buddha Air provides mountain flights every day, early in the mornings, when the Himalayas views are the best!

- Flight starts at 6:00 AM early in the morning
- Mt. Everest 20 miles from your window
